CONCURRENT FORUM SESSIONS 4 (C)

Often the issues people and communities face are complex and require engagement across a range of partners to successfully bring about change. In this session, we explore the importance of collaborative working and building the kind of inclusive relationships and networks that enable us to do more together than we can do alone.

Here we examine pathways to inclusive and sustainable learning. Explore "Integrating Sustainability into Primary Curriculum" with a case study of P5 in IKM, emphasizing the incorporation of sustainable practices. Investigate "School Governance, Human, and Financial Capital Performances" across Indonesia, Kyrgyzstan, and Tanzania, drawing insights from the Nama Education Foundation Assessment 2022. Delve into "Sustainability of STEM Interest and Persistence," offering a qualitative analysis of the journeys of female academics. Join us in envisioning a future where education is accessible, sustainable, and fosters diverse interests and talents.
