

State transformation refers to the process of altering anything inside a nation, typically from one form or situation to another. In the context of a world in transition, "state transformation" can relate to how communities, organisations, and individuals adapt and respond to changes. The economic, social, educational, and political systems may all play a role. Individuals and communities can be profoundly affected by shifts in the global context and the governments they represent.

STATE TRANSFORMATION AND DEVELOPMENT IN A CHANGING WORLD

STATE TRANSFORMATION AND DEVELOPMENT IN A CHANGING WORLD

EDITORS

RAMZI BENDEBKA
RABI'AH AMINUDDIN

TUNKU MOHAR MOKHTAR
SYAZA MOHAMAD SHUKRI

MASHREQ INTERNATIONAL FOR BOOKS SDN BHD
47-02, Jalan Melati Utam 4, Taman Melati, 53100, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia
+60193951773 Mashreq.com.my mashreqbookstore
@mashreqintl @mashreq4books@gmail.com

STATE TRANSFORMATION AND DEVELOPMENT IN A CHANGING WORLD

EDITORS

Ramzi Bendebka
Rabi'ah Aminuddin
Tunku Mohar Mokhtar
Syaza Mohamad Shukri

MASHREQ INTERNATIONAL FOR BOOKS

2024

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

No part of this book may be reproduced, stored in any retrieval system or otherwise, without prior written permission from the AUTHOR except quotations for research purposes in which the source is cited in a proper scientific acknowledged way.

جميع الحقوق محفوظة

يُمنع طبع هذا الكتاب أو أي جزء منه بأي طريقة من طرق الطبع والنقل والتصوير والترجمة والتصوير الضوئي أو الانتاج المرئي والمسموع والحاسوبي، وغيرها إلا بإذن خطي من المؤلف وتستثنى الاستشهادات لأغراض البحث العلمي مع الإشارة إلى المصدر على نحو ما تقتضي الأعراف العلمية.

BOOK TITLE

STATE TRANSFORMATION AND DEVELOPMENT IN A CHANGING WORLD

EDITORS

Ramzi Bendebka
Rabi'ah Aminuddin
Tunku Mohar Mokhtar
Syaza Mohamad Shukri

Page Size: 18cm×26cm

Cover Design MOHAMED KARAM

ISBN

978-967-2416-85-2

2024

First Edition (KL)

PUBLISHER

MASHREQ INTERNATIONAL FOR BOOKS SDN BHD

Reg. No.: (1092966-T)

Address:

35-2 Jalan Melati Utama 4,
Taman Melati Utama, Setapak
53100, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

+60 193951773

@ Mashreqintl

Mashreq.com.my

Mashreqbookstore

Mashreq4books@gmail.com

PREFACE

State transformation and development take place in an increasingly globalized world, where advances in technology and changes to social, economic, and political life have necessitated a new way of thinking about how nations can best respond. Addressing these dynamics, State Transformation and Development in a Changing World provides an accessible and necessary introduction to the real-world issues concerning state capacity building through this process of long-term transformation.

This book comes at a time when the orthodoxies of statehood and governance are being challenged as never before, and old models no longer fit new tones or complexities. This has wide-ranging implications for the development, stability, and overall welfare of states—whether they come through peaceful transitions or more tumultuous processes. Through historical and contemporary case studies, this volume explores the ways in which states experience transformation, linking processes of state-building with those of multiple forms of development.

In this book, we delve one step deeper into a theme that explored slightly more but still tenuous thoughts about the dichotomy between rough and soft transformations, which is very much of interest to study states such as Sudan, Malaysia, India, Yemen, Indonesia, and Algeria. For example, through its analysis of Sudan's troubled political history, as the country has experienced ameliorating strategies of military coups and civilian rule in turn, it offers essential reflections on what processes lead to more durable forms of state transformation. The comparison that is made illustrates the extent to which these different systems have, or have not, been effective in terms of achieving stability and development, and it offers some lessons applicable to a variety of contexts facing somewhat similar problems.

This book not only analyses the states' changes from a political point of view but also explores how public administration, economics, and governance played significant roles in determining the current trajectories of their development. A further reflection of the messiness in cases where politics meets administration, in which political priorities may subvert bureaucratic norms--like in Malaysia and Indonesia--warrants deeper debate on governance. The conversations in this book explain the effect the politicization of civil service systems has on both efficiency and effectiveness within public administration and how they impact a state's path.

This book then focuses on the need for innovation in providing public service deliveries, especially through the digital space. The Indonesian experiences illustrated in the case studies contribute to a wider conversation about how e-public services can be leveraged for more inclusive development, particularly on issues associated with the digital divide. The book shows that technologies and digital processes can narrow the distance between low-income communities to social services, affirming greater inclusion and economic advancement. But it also speaks of the difficulties associated with digital transformation, including the oft-cited bugbear of a 'digital divide' and related questions around infrastructure which are necessary prerequisites for ensuring that benefits arising from digitalisation reach all sections equitably.

In addition, the book addresses larger socio-economic and cultural repercussions of state change, looking in particular at how shared values can fuel social transformation through community building. Debate on these issues from an Islamic perspective reveals that social values and community cohesion are necessary components of any strategy addressing the post-2015 development agenda, where culturally grounded religious principles must be considered critical elements for its integration. This book, grounded in these tenets, argues for a more expression of development that will lift us up beyond the economic level to bring about true social and moral good.

The volume also offers a critical interrogation of how international organizations and global governance frameworks determine or at least influence state transformations. Approaching the reforms and development strategies of states from a New Public Management (NPM) perspective and other global governance models, it explores how those international pressures affect administrative practices. This has significant consequences, forcing states to balance global expectations with local utility, a difficult act with implications that are deeply controversial.

The array of readings and methods showcased in this book are consistent with the packed set regarding today's international behavior adjustment. The authors are experts in a range of disciplinary approaches and have experiences from several regions, offering the reader multiple perspectives that together deepen our comprehension of who governs when states transform. The scholarly contributions from this work are not only interesting but also give us practical suggestions of how to help states that find themselves in the mid-waters between autocracy and liberal democracy bureaucrats, devising lessons for policymakers' development practitioners as well as civil society actors struggling under conditions that allow them partial influence into policymaker decision-making.

As it was not easy, we want to take this opportunity at the outset to offer our immense gratitude, firstly and most importantly, to the reviewers/editors of this volume for their dedication and intellectual discipline. We hope that the attention to details makes this book a work that meets the highest academic standards.

We are also incredibly grateful to the authors, for their work and thinking fuel this book. They have generously shared their knowledge, engaged in critical debates, and deepened their understanding of state transformation. Their varied backgrounds, from political science to public administration, from digital innovation to cultural studies, make the conversation a multi-sided dialogue on the topic and offer a holistic view of what it encompasses.

We hope you find the discussions enlightening and thought-provoking when engaging with its chapters.

Editors,

EDITORS

Ramzi Bendebka: Dr. Ramzi Bendebka is currently an Assistant Professor at the International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM), specializing in International Relations with a focus on Middle East Politics, Regional studies, and Muslim World Issues. He holds a PhD in International Studies from IIUM, Malaysia. His work is recognized through numerous awards and publications, reflecting his expertise in regionalism and the political economy of the MENA region. Additionally, he serves on several editorial boards and has led significant research projects.

Rabi'ah Binti Aminudin: Dr. Rabi'ah Aminudin is an associate professor at the Department of Political Science, International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM). She specializes in the fields of governance and public policy, with a particular focus on gender studies and political institutions. She is also interested in exploring the intersection of Islam and governance. Dr. Rabi'ah has contributed significantly to understanding the role identity plays in shaping political institutions and public policies in Malaysia. She is currently the convenor for Women in Southeast Asian Studies.

Tunku Mohar Mokhtar: Dr. Tunku Mohar Mokhtar is an assistant professor at the Department of Political Science, IIUM. He has written numerous journal articles and book chapters on Malaysian politics, specifically on elections and the country's electoral system. He has also conducted research on issues ranging from public perceptions towards government to public awareness of science and technology. He is currently the editor of Intellectual Discourse, the flagship journal of IIUM

Syaza Shukri: Dr. Syaza Shukri is an associate professor at the Department of Political Science, IIUM. Her research focuses on comparative politics, specifically on the relationship between Islam, democracy, and populism in Muslim-majority contexts. She has written extensively on the subject in multiple forms, from mass media to academic books. Syaza is also a visiting fellow at the ISEAS-Yusof Ishak Institute, a non-resident research fellow at the European Centre for Populism Studies, and a visiting fellow at the KSI Strategic Institute for the Asia Pacific.

CONTENTS

PREFACE	2
EDITORS	7
CONTENT	9
THE STATE AND REGIONAL TRANSFORMATION IN THE 21ST CENTURY	13
CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES: A QUALITATIVE EXPLORATION OF THE IMPACT OF REGIONAL COMPREHENSIVE ECONOMIC PARTNERSHIP (RCEP) ON LOCAL LOGISTIC COMPANIES	14
Goh Hong Lip, Hen Kai Wah, Low Suet Cheng³ & Chen Shye Ning
INTERGOVERNMENTAL COLLABORATION CHALLENGES IN MALAWI'S IMMIGRATION POLICY: INSIGHTS FROM A COLLABORATIVE GOVERNANCE MODEL PERSPECTIVE	31
Sherrif Abobakar Kaiss, Normala Mohd Adnan² and Rabi'ah Binti Aminudin
EVALUATING SECURITY CENTRISM OF ASEAN BORDER MANAGEMENT IN THENUNUKAN CONTEXT.....	50
Yustina Meity Kusuma Ayu Hapsari - Dias Pabyantara Swandita Mahayasa - Agus Haryanto
GOVERNMENT POLICIES, DEVELOPMENT, AND SOCIAL MEDIA	68
REPEATED QUARANTINE AND POSTING: A CONTENT ANALYSIS OF INSTAGRAM'S TOP POSTS BY THE PEOPLE DURING MOVEMENT CONTROL ORDER (MCO) 3.0.....	69
Goh Hong Lip, Lee Jamie², Lim Wei Yin

CULTURAL MANAGEMENT FRAGMENTATION IN JAVA: DILEMMA AMIDST DECENTRALIZATION POLICY	86
Sofa Marwah, Tri Murniati, Titis Perdani
ENRICHING INCLUSIVE INNOVATION THROUGH E-PUBLIC SERVICE IN INDONESIA	115
Lolita Deby Mahendra Putri and Fadhlan Nur Hakiem
POLITICS, SHARED VALUES AND FAMILY ANALYSES.....	134
POLITICAL-ADMINISTRATIVE INTERFACES IN PUBLIC MANAGEMENT REFORMS: MALAYSIA'S EXPERIENCE.....	135
Ahmad Faiz Yaakob
ROAD TO DEVELOPMENT AND SOCIAL CHANGE THROUGH SHARED VALUES AND COMMUNITY BUILDING – AN ISLAMIC PERSPECTIVE	153
Mohd. Wasim Ali and Khalid Khan
CHANGING MARRIAGE PRACTICES AMONG THE SRI LANKAN MIGRANTS IN THE MIDDLE EAST.....	168
Mohamed I.M. Aslam
POLITICAL TRANSFORMATION, FOREIGN POLICY AND STABILITY	188
THE POLITICAL INSTABILITY AND ITS IMPACT ON SUDAN'S FOREIGN POLICY	189
Marwa Mohamed
ANALYZING THE CHALLENGES OF DEMOCRATIC TRANSFORMATION IN SUDAN: OBSTACLES AND PROSPECTS	210
Wael Babiker

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS, FEDERALISM, AND DEVELOPMENT	233
TOWARDS AN ECONOMIC TRANSFORMATION: ALGERIA'S STRATEGIC DEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR SUSTAINABLE GROWTH	234
Ramzi Bendebka & Bekhouche Mustapha
FEDERALISM AS A PATHWAY TO STABILITY: EXAMINING THE POTENTIAL FOR A FEDERALFRAMEWORK IN YEMEN'S POLITICAL LANDSCAPE	258
Ebrahim Naji Ali Abohatem
IMPLICATION OF THE NORMALIZATION RELATIONS BETWEEN ARAB COUNTRIES AND ISRAEL ON THE PALESTINIAN INDEPENDENCE	286
Fadhlan Nur Hakiem and Lolita Deby Mahendra Putri
CONTENTS	307