

- Yanti, T., & Fauziah, D. (2021). The effect of family income on stunting incidents in preschool children at Bogor City during the COVID-19 pandemic. Indian Journal of Public Health Research & Development. <https://doi.org/10.37506/ijphrd.v12i2.14167>
- Zheng, C. & Zhang, J. (2021). The impact of COVID-19 on the efficiency of microfinance institutions. International Review of Economics & Finance, 71, 407–423. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.iref.2020.09.016>
- Zitouni, T., & Jedidia, K. (2022). Does Islamic microfinance contribute to economic empowerment in Tunisia?: A case study of Zitouna taken. Journal of Business and Socio-Economic Development, 2(1), 67–81. <https://doi.org/10.1108/jbsed-10-2021-0143>
- Zulpahmi, N., Nugroho, A., Sumardi, S., & Wibowo, B. (2022). Evaluation of awareness and perception of Islamic microfinance institutions and higher education institutions in Indonesia towards the implementation of sharia governance: Dyad's perspective. International Journal of Professional Business Review, 7(4), e0743. <https://doi.org/10.26668/businessreview/2022.v7i4.743>

Md. Nazim Uddin is a post-doctoral research fellow at International Islamic University Malaysia and a research fellow at Ankara University, Turkey. He is also an associate editor for Nature's Humanities and Social Sciences Communications. He is the author of several books, many book chapters, and peer-reviewed articles. His research interests, which include Microfinance, Social Finance, Green Finance and Banking, Corporate Governance, Sustainable Finance, and the delicate realms of Islamic Microfinance and Islamic Banking and Finance, are informed by this unique mix of theoretical and practical understanding.

Ahasanul Haque is a professor in the Department of Business Administration at International Islamic University Malaysia. He obtained his Ph.D. in marketing from the Graduate School of Management (AACSB), Universiti Putra Malaysia 2001. He published numerous books, book chapters, study modules, and research articles in internationally refereed indexed journals and many conference proceedings. He received several research awards for outstanding research. In addition, he is involved in many research grants locally and internationally and numerous consultancy projects such as World Bank Group, Telekom, Z-consulting, and others. He also serves as an editor-in-chief and an editorial board member of internationally indexed journals. His research interests cover the areas of retail marketing, Islamic marketing, digital marketing, international marketing, and consumer behavior.

Zohurul Anis is an associate professor at Management and Science University in Malaysia. He is enthusiastic about conducting research on new technologies in business, especially in social media marketing and management. He is passionate about solving complicated problems and is considered a proficient problem-solver who envisions both business and technical perspectives to develop workable solutions.