ABSTRACT

This chapter reports on survey of information skills training among librarian. The respondents also claimed that the programme was implemented to train the users to search effectively and efficiently in the 21st century, librarians are embracing teaching as a primary responsibility. These teacher-librarians are shaping the modules and programme of information skills training. The advent of information technology in libraries influences the changes of the information format found in libraries, thus this programme being an important activity encompasses the current information, which educates users to use the information that is available in the libraries.

13.1 Respondents' Background

Fourteen (14) librarians in-charge of training were interviewed. An in-depth interview session was carried out to get the responses concerning the information skills training from the selected public university libraries. Table 13.1 shows the breakdown of respondents from the selected public university libraries.
