Re: Invitation to CILE's International Conference

Dear honorable Dr. Mohammed Kamal Hassan,

The Center for Islamic Legislation & Ethics (CILE) was created in 2012 as a center specializing in Islamic legislation and ethical thought with a focus on applied ethics. With a vision of reform and renewal guided by the fundamental principles of the Holy Qur'an, Sunna and the higher objectives of Islam, we aim to provide a methodological and theoretical framework that leads to concrete contributions and practical applications and in the process transforms reality to bring about a more just and ethical world.

By bringing scholars of text and scholars of context together for deliberation on the critical issues of the day, we aim to serve diverse global audiences of experts, activists, students, and ordinary people who share our concerns and interests.

Part of the center's activities is organizing an annual international conference planned around one or more theme in applied ethics. Keynote speakers from around the globe will contribute to the theme(s).

Thus, the Research Center for Islamic Legislation & Ethics is pleased to invite you to participate in its upcoming International Conference in Doha that will be held on the 9th of March 2013 under the theme: Islamic Ethics: Critical Questions in Methodology, Politics and Arts. We would like for you to take part in the conference session on the topic of "The methodology of the study of Islamic ethics". You are expected to arrive in Doha on the 8th of March and insh'allah leave safely on the 10th of March, 2013.

Please note the Center for Islamic Legislation and Ethics will take care of all the logistics of your Visa, travel, accommodation and transportation for the conference, in addition to a humble honorarium.

We shall be deeply honored with your participation in the seminar and we look forward to your acceptance, presence and contribution. If you accept to participate in the seminar please do email us at clazhar@cilecenter.org. And CC: jasser.auda@cilecenter.org
