This book discusses and analyzes an area of contemporary Islamic economics and finance that is relatively under-written, i.e., Islamic Economics Education. It provides a conceptual introduction by experts in Islamic Thought and Education on the urgent need for curriculum reforms in university education that is represented by integration between Islamic heritage (al-Turath al-Islami) and modern knowledge/disciplines. In this context, the Islamization of knowledge agenda, properly understood and undertaken by qualified academics, is a legitimate process required in the teaching of economics. Islamic Economics Education in Southeast Asian Universities presents the case studies and experiences of selected universities in Malaysia and Indonesia offering Islamic economics programs, reflects critically on these experiences, identifies important issues and challenges, and offers recommendations for the future progress of Islamic economics education.

Islamic Economics Education in Southeast Asian Universities: An Introduction

Mohd Nizam Barom & Mohd Mahyudi Mohd Yusop

1. Background

The fountainhead of the topic at hand in this edited book is the intellectual effort that has been branded as “Islamization of Knowledge” (IOK). It is an attempt to project the Islamic worldview not only in the present body of knowledge but also in any research endeavor to produce new knowledge in all disciplines. Consequently, the expected outcome of this IOK agenda would be a complete set of knowledge that is free from secular influences. Thus, knowledge of such quality would definitely allow ready application by Muslim societies in modern times.

Interestingly, in response to the ever increasing clamor for true Islamic solutions to contemporary problems, more and more people are showing a greater sense of conviction to the IOK agenda. This trend can be better observed when one analyzes the Muslims academia. This is perfectly understandable since in essence, IOK aims to be the panacea for the crisis of thought that inhibits Muslim communities from constructively engaging with the world around them. Empowered by the offerings of IOK, Muslims everywhere would be much bolder in being problem-solvers in current political, social and economic issues.
