

Edited by YUMI ZUHANIS HAS-YUN BASHIME
Collection of articles covering diversity of Halal life, from food for consumers, tourism logistics and finance to pharmaceuticals.

Halal is defined as permissible by the Islamic law. It exists in many aspects of life and comes with its counterpart, haram (pung and clean). It is a standard that all Muslim firms must adhere to achieve not only the worldly benefits but also the spiritual gain towards being closer to the Creator. Nevertheless, its holiness is applicable and more surely accepted across communities and cultures. The Halal industry itself is a huge and exciting market which involves many stakeholders from policy makers, raw material suppliers, manufacturers, retail and consumers. Experts responsible in ensuring the successful Halal pipeline.

Contributors are authors affiliated with the international institutes for Halal Research and Training (INHART) globally, who are actively involved in research, development and innovation as well as implementation of Halal in their related field. This book, Halal: All That You Need to Know, although presented as leisure reading is full of information on the many facets of Halal. It will be a valuable reading to all Halal stakeholders including the consumers. Together, the understanding and cooperation between the Halal stakeholders across fields may help in promoting Halal as the ultimate standard for the benefit of mankind. Please embrace and live the Halal lifestyle!
