BACKGROUND

The modern criminal justice system is a comprehensive system of practices and institutions of governments directed at maintaining social control by mitigating crime. The term ‘law, order and Criminal Justice’ is used to cover all the different agencies and organizations that are involved in enforcing law and order, preventing crime and making up punishments and how they work together. Maintaining the principles of equity, fairness and justice.

In this fast-changing world, these practices and institutions cannot remain static. They must change and evolve as criminals and syndicates also adapt to the changing system. This conference focuses on revisiting the spirit behind the law, analyzing the forms of existing law and the challenges that the government and the society is facing in controlling and preventing ordinary crime and the emerging crimes in the millennium. The conference aims to address the following 5 pillars of the criminal justice system:

- The Community
- Law enforcement
- Prosecution
- The court
- Reformation system

It examines the latest policy new technologies such as ICT and technology in the form of crimes, evidence as well as punishments. The tense of globalization and international trade has also given rise to new commercial crimes across borders that require rethinking of traditional concepts such as criminality, evidence gathering and punishment.
