

Development is the agenda and the priority of almost all nations. They try to provide their people with a better way of living and better life-chances. In this attempt, they concentrate on the economic and political systems of their societies and try to improve them to achieve the target. The general feeling is that if one increases national wealth, raises physical quality of life and gives freedom to the populace to govern themselves, one achieves prosperity. The past three centuries have shown that nations have made tremendous efforts to boost their economic productions and refine the governing systems. They initiated industrialization, increased capital formation and developed sophisticated technology to change the physical conditions of their societies. They further democratized their socio-economic and political institutions to create a conducive atmosphere for development. Some claimed that they had achieved the level of development, others were in the process and still others have failed to do so. The reality is that the so-called development has failed to provide peaceful, harmonious, contended and dignified life to humans. Still the majority of the people have no sufficient means to live with dignity and honour, they are living below poverty line, are exploited, suppressed and subjugated by those who are wealthy, affluent and enjoying power. Development as generally perceived, by and large, brings luck to small portion of the population who no doubt have all the amenities of life, live luxuriously and enjoy all the privileges of society but the rest of the population are deprived of basic requirements of life. The Human Development Report 1992 reported that the rich have grown richer and the poor have become poorer due to the outcome of universal development efforts.

PARTRIDGE
A Penguin Random House Company

ISBN 978-1-4628-5353-7

9 781482 853537

Development and Its Diverse Aspects

Jamil Farooqui
Ahmad A Nasr

Development and Its Diverse Aspects

Development and Its Diverse
Aspects

Development and Its Diverse Aspects

Jamil Farooqui
Ahmad A Nasr

PARTRIDGE
A Penguin Random House Company

Copyright © 2015 by Jamil Farooqui.

ISBN:	Softcover	978-1-4828-5353-7
	eBook	978-1-4828-5354-4

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be used or reproduced by any means, graphic, electronic, or mechanical, including photocopying, recording, taping or by any information storage retrieval system without the written permission of the author except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles and reviews.

Because of the dynamic nature of the Internet, any web addresses or links contained in this book may have changed since publication and may no longer be valid. The views expressed in this work are solely those of the author and do not necessarily reflect the views of the publisher, and the publisher hereby disclaims any responsibility for them.

Print information available on the last page.

To order additional copies of this book, contact

Toll Free 800 101 2657 (Singapore)

Toll Free 1 800 81 7340 (Malaysia)

orders.singapore@partridgepublishing.com

www.partridgepublishing.com/singapore

CONTENTS

Introduction.....	vii
Chapter I	1
Development And Ummatic Vision: An Overview
Mohamed Aris Othman
Chapter II	12
Islamic Perspective Of Development
Jamil Farooqui
Chapter III.....	43
Frogs Under a Coconut Shell or Under a Glass Bowl?
Print Media, Peninsular Orang Asli and Development
Ahmad A. Nasr
Chapter IV.....	86
The Importance Of Self-Realization In Human And Societal
Development According To Muhammad Iqbal
(1877-1938)
Adibah binti Abdul Rahim
Chapter V	105
Worldview And Human Development In Secular And Islamic Framework
Hafas Furqani
& Zakariya Bin Man

Chapter VI.....	128
An Islamic Perspective On Consumption, Saving And Investment: To Flourish A Barakah Wealth Of Ummah Dayangku Aslinah Abd. Rahim
Chapter VII	149
The Development Of Waqf Institution In Malaysia: A Study From Historical And Contemporary Perspectives A Rahman Tang Abdullah
Chapter VIII.....	162
The Role Of Grameen Bank In The Social Development Of Bangladesh Md. Sayed Uddin
End Notes.....	187

INTRODUCTION

Development is the agenda and the priority of almost all nations. They try to provide their people with a better way of living and better life-chances. In this attempt, they concentrate on the economic and political systems of their societies and try to improve them to achieve the target. The general feeling is that if one increases national wealth, raises physical quality of life and gives freedom to the populace to govern themselves, one achieves prosperity. The past three centuries have shown that nations have made tremendous efforts to boost their economic productions and refine the governing systems. They initiated industrialization, increased capital formation and developed sophisticated technology to change the physical conditions of their societies. They further democratized their socio-economic and political institutions to create a conducive atmosphere for development. Some claimed that they had achieved the level of development, others were in the process and still others have failed to do so. The reality is that the so-called development has failed to provide peaceful, harmonious, contended and dignified life to humans. Still the majority of the people have no sufficient means to live with dignity and honour, they are living below poverty line, are exploited, suppressed and subjugated by those who are wealthy, affluent and enjoying power. Development as generally perceived, by and large, brings luck to small portion of the population who no doubt have all the amenities of life, live