VERBAL and NONVERBAL CUES INDICATING DECEPTION VERSUS HONESTY AMONG ENGLISH SPEAKING STUDENTS in HIGHER EDUCATION INSTITUTION

This book discussed the para-social interaction between young adults of IIUM and public figures of their choice. It considers the power distance as the determining factor that influence the para-social interaction between them. On another aspect, this study also looks at the attitudes that the young adults develop towards the public figures based on the influence of power of the public figures. To do so, an adaptation of Celebrity Worship Scale developed by McCutcheon et al (2002) with some alteration was used. Such modification was deemed necessary as the questionnaire is from Western country and making it localized helped to draw a more concrete conclusion. The results show that there is strong para-social interaction between young adults and public figures of their choice and the attitudes of the young adults towards public figures.

NUR AZWIN ZULKARNAIN graduated under Bachelor's Degree in English for International Communication from Kuliyyah of Languages and Management, International Islamic University Malaysia. Soon after graduation, she continued her studies in Master of Arts (Linguistics) at University of Malaya, and currently in her second semester. While being a student, she sought to gain experience working at Lembaga Peperiksaan, Jalan Tuanku Abdul Halim as a part-time administrative assistant.

NOR ZAINIYAH NORITA MOKHTAR (PhD) graduated her PhD from the University of Sheffield, is currently attached to the Kulliyyah of Languages and Managment in Edu Hub Pagoh, Muar, Johor. She is currently teaching Intercultural Communication, International Business Communication and Research Methodology to the undergraduates in the said Kulliyyah.
