Preface by the Chairman of the Third ICoSI 2019

Assalamu’alaikum wr.wb.,

Dear Participants,

Welcome to Yogyakarta. The city with a well-established learning environment and Javanese cultural ambience. It has been one of the main destinations for further education in Indonesia as well as tourism. Those combination has developed a unique living experience not only for the people who are seeking for the best education but also to someone who are trying to enjoy the lively daily life of Yogyakarta people.

The Third International Conference on Sustainable Innovation (ICoSI) 2019 which was held by Muhammadiyah University of Yogyakarta is a remarkable work of scientific effort, trying to serve as a scientific showcase of a vast range of field from technology and engineering, health sciences and nursing to social sciences, law, humanity, education and religious sciences composing 9 focal conferences under the ICoSI. Those are International Symposium of Engineering, Technology and Health Science (ISETHS), International Symposium of Social Science, Humanity, Education, and Religion Studies (ISHERS), International Symposium of Civil, Environmental, and Infrastructure Engineering (ISCEIE), International Conference of Islamic Economic and Finance Inclusion (ICIEFI), International Conference of Nursing Science (ICoNurs), Asian Conference on Comparative Laws (ASIAN COL), International Conference on English Language Teaching, Literature & Linguistics (ICoELTLT), International Conference on Sustainable Agriculture (ICoSA) and International Conference on Islamic Studies in Digital Era (ICISDE).

With the theme of “Sustainable Innovation in Disruptive Era”, this conference established two key points, namely “sustainability” and “innovation” which served as an umbrella theme for the 9 focal conferences. The relevancy of those words has taken into a more prominent place, nowadays, with the emergence of the current issue of sustainability in industry 4.0, where innovation is playing as a prominent factor. That lifted itself up to act as a showcase for academicians, policy maker and students alike to give broaden perspectives of how to keep innovative in this disruptive era. At this point, ICoSI 2019 is also a prove of significant sustainability from the previous conference in 2014 with the theme of “Technology and innovation challenges in natural resources and built environment management for humanity and sustainability.

The supports of the focal conference led to the massive participation and successfully produce 842 full paper and 967 participants involving sixteen country (Australia, Germany, India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, Philippines, Singapore, Sudan, Taiwan, Thailand, Turkey, US, and Spain). Indeed, the richness of works presented has also meant the difficulty in the organization of the whole event. The complexity of the work can also be found in the selection process of the articles. Nevertheless, as can be seen from the articles, the quality of the works is still unquestionable.

As the conference chairperson, I realize that the success of the conference depends on, first of all and unquestionably, Allah SWT, and certainly many people who have worked hard in planning and organizing the conference with us. Therefore, I would like to express my gratitude to the Steering committee and Organizing committee members who have worked extremely hard for the details and important aspects of the conference. I would also like to extend my gratitude to the Scientific committee who have done extraordinary work reviewing and providing constructive feedbacks for the abstracts and full papers from our participants. Last but not least, our gratitude also goes to the sponsors and co-host for their contribution to our conference.

I wish everyone a successful conference, a pleasant stay in the cultural city of Yogyakarta, and a success in every step of our lives.

Wassalamu‘alaikum wr wb.

Chairman of The Third ICoSI 2019

Dr. Iman Pernama, M.Kes., Ph.D

Welcome Remarks by Rector of Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta

"The best research is nothing without publication. The world-famous researcher can produce the best research but means nothing without sharing it to the world."

In the past seven years, we have successfully organized the International Conference on Sustainable Innovation (ICoSI). ICoSI highlighted the importance of scientific innovation to sustain the life of the human race, preserve humanity, and strengthen our civilization through the power of knowledge, science, and wisdom. We believe that the future of our culture and civilization should be underpinned and sustained, not only by robust scientific discoveries but also the principles of humanity.

Initially, ICoSI had been successfully served as a forum within which scholars and researchers from two main polar of field of researches were met and shared their researches and ideas: social and technological sciences. The first ICoSI was held in 2012 and followed by the second in 2014. Currently, we are expanding the scope of the Third ICoSI 2019 to various field of researches ranges from technology and engineering to medical, nursing and social, education, humanity and religious studies. With more than eight hundreds of papers from different countries across Asia, Africa, Europe, Australia, and the United States, we are very proud that the two-day conference has been able to serve as a platform for invited respected scholars who have contributed to the body of knowledge in different academic fields, as well as to facilitate young researchers, senior lecturers, and even experienced policymakers to share perspectives, key issues, and research findings. It provides a best venue in the best place in Indonesia to share ideas, concepts, and of course, networking among academicians, practitioners, researchers, and people with the same interest alike, not only from Indonesia, but also internationally.

Since its inception in 1983, Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta (UMY) has been committed to promote the spirit of the Muhammadiyah movement in developing knowledge and technology as well as in fostering the welfare of the human beings based on the Islamic values. With the vision "To be a Leading University Through Developing the Knowledge and Technology Based on the Islamic Values to Contribute a Proper Society", Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta has been recognized as the 28th best universities in Indonesia and the 4th best private universities according to the UniRank in 2019 (https://www.4icu.org/id/).
We believe that maintaining national and international leverage is important for us to establish our existence and without questions conferences and scientific and academic publications are the great vehicles to reach that goal. In the past ten years, UMY has organized a wide range of academic activities: learning process, research, scholarly publication, and community development projects. Indeed, with almost 500 publications were published in the Scopus indexed publications so far (http://sinta2.ristekdikti.go.id/affiliations/detail?id=1872&view=overview), we are still striving to put ourselves better. Alhamdulillah, from 2013 to 2018, our publications were increasing 6 times higher.

Finally, I personally and on behalf of UMY as the host of the third ICEsi 2019 welcome all participants and thank you for your great participation. We do our best endeavors to organize the conference and expect that everyone can reach their goals; publishing their papers in the most excellent academic publishers. Not only that, we also try to provide a wonderful and great experience for all participants to a more cultural and social ambience of Yogyakarta. For sure, Yogyakarta, with its vibrant culture, provides you not only with many unforgettable cultural events and touristic spots but also with the friendly atmosphere and generous people. Siyung ranah and enjoy the fabulous Yogyakarta.
