Preface

Assignment writings are the worst nightmare among students. Sometimes students do not know where to begin in their assignment writings end up copy and paste the sources from the internet.

This E-book serves as guidance to all undergraduate and postgraduate students on how to write their assignments effectively. Besides that, this e-book also shares some expert tips in writing the assignments so that students can score their assignments with flying colours marks.

INTRODUCTION

An assignment is a task given to allocated students as part of the course of study. It is one of the tools used to analyse the understanding of a student on a subject matter. There are several types of assignments: -

- a) Report
- b) Case study
- c) Essay
- d) Annotated bibliography

Table 1 on the next page defines the various types of assignments (Adapted from Monash University, Research and Online learning). In this E-book, I will be sharing tips on how to write assignments effectively particularly the essay type.
